

Indiana University | Jacobs School of Music

Welcome to the 2011 Summer Adult Workshop Series

Below you will find useful information about getting to Indiana University, staying in Bloomington, and getting around town once you are here. You will also find information about getting graduate credit (if applicable), how to use the campus computer network, and also some places of interest Bloomington has to offer.

Driving to Campus

Bloomington, Indiana is located about:

- 50 miles south of Indianapolis, Indiana;
- 100 miles north of Louisville, Kentucky;
- 130 miles west of Cincinnati, Ohio; and
- 240 miles east of St. Louis, Missouri

For detailed driving instructions, please visit www.iub.edu/~iubmap/

Maps of Bloomington and I.U. are at this web site:

www.visitbloomington.com/flashmap/index.cfm

Flying to Indiana

The closest commercial airport to Bloomington is the Indianapolis International Airport (IND). Frequent shuttles from the airport to IU are provided by both the Bloomington Shuttle Service and Star of America. Limousine service is also available.

Indianapolis International Airport

www.indianapolisairport.com/

Bloomington Shuttle Service

(800) 589-6004 or (812) 332-6004

www.bloomingtonshuttle.com/

Classic Touch Limousine

(800) 319-0082 or (812) 339-7269

www.classictouchlimo.com

Star of America Shuttle

(800) 228-0814

www.charterstaramerica.com/shuttles

Housing – On Campus

On-campus housing is available at Willkie Graduate Residence Hall for adult workshops. All rooms are single occupancy and include air conditioning and linens. The cost per night is $55 (tax included) and must be paid in full at least two weeks before your workshop begins. Register online for on-campus housing when you register for your workshop. Please contact the Office of Pre-college and Summer Programs if you have questions.

Indiana University | Jacobs School of Music

Housing – Off Campus

There are many off-campus accommodation options available in Bloomington. Please visit www.visitbloomington.com for a complete list of hotels, or contact the following selection of hotels that are close to campus:

*Courtyard by Marriott
310 South College Ave.
(800) 321-2211

*Hampton Inn
2100 North Walnut Street
(812) 334-2100

*Indiana Memorial Union (on campus)
900 East Seventh Street
(800) 209-8145

A Summer House Inn
4501 East 3rd Street
(800) 371-0934
(the Inn is not a stop on the shuttle line)

*These hotels are stops along the Bloomington Shuttle line.

When making reservations be sure to ask for the Jacobs School of Music Special Conference Rate.

Parking on campus

In order to park on campus you will need to purchase a parking decal. Options for decals are as follows:

1. If you are staying in the dorm you may purchase a D1 permit to park in the dorm lot on a daily basis. D1 permits may be purchased on arrival at the reception desk in Willkie Dorm.
2. Decals for the Jordan Avenue parking garage may be purchased whether you are staying on or off campus. This parking decal allows you to park daily in the Jordan Avenue garage across the street from the Musical Arts Center. Centrally located between the School of Music and the Dorms, the parking garage is within a 5 minute walk of all functions of the workshop. Register online for this decal when you register for your workshop. When you arrive, park on the top level of the Jordan garage (take a ticket). Pick up the decal in person at registration, and it can be used when you leave the garage at day's end.
3. Disabled participants may purchase a disabled parking decal during online registration. Please park in a disabled parking space when you arrive to register. You may pick up the decal in person at registration and put it in your car at that time.

Campus and City Bus Service

If you wish to get around town without a car, there are two bus services to choose from:

The I.U. Campus Bus Service web site is www.iubus.indiana.edu/campus_bus/index.html

The Bloomington Transit web site is www.bloomingtontransit.com/index.htm

Indiana University | Jacobs School of Music

Campus Computer Usage

A password for a temporary computer account and instructions on how to connect wirelessly will be issued to you at registration. For more information, please see the University Information Technology Services website: <http://uits.iu.edu/>

Music Library

The Cook Music Library, recognized as one of the largest academic music libraries in the world, serves the Jacobs School of Music and Bloomington Campus of Indiana University. The collection is comprised of well over 600,000 items.

Working with the staff from IU's Digital Library Program, the Cook Music Library is an international leader in the development of digital music libraries. Since 1996 IU students have listened to digitized audio via the Variations system. Now using Variations 2, students have access to more than 14,000 complete recordings and a growing collection of digitized scores.

During the summer the Cook Music Library is open to the Public: M-F 8-5

Graduate Credit

If your workshop offers graduate credit and you would like to receive it, please be sure to select this option when you register online and we will send you the necessary forms. Note that graduate credit fees are separate fees in addition to the workshop tuition.

Dining

Bloomington has numerous dining options from quick, inexpensive meals to delicious international cuisine. When you check in at your workshop we will give you a detailed dining guide, but see below for a few options that are close to the music school.

Bear's Place

1316 E. 3rd Street, 812-339-3460
Pub grub, sandwiches and soups.

Dragon Express

1400 E. 3rd Street, 812-331-7030.
Traditional Chinese food. Carry out and dine-in.
Cash only.

Copper Cup

1400 E. 3rd Street, 812-323-8492
A coffee shop across from the music school.

Mother Bear's Pizza

1428 E. 3rd Street, 812-332-4495
Pizza, homemade lasagna, salads, and more.

The MAC Mediterranean

1434 E. 3rd Street, 812-334-9100
Gyros, kabobs, salads, buffet and more.

The City Bakery

1318 E 3rd St, 812-323-9904
Grab a quick coffee and scone for less than $5.

Indiana University | Jacobs School of Music

Some places to see while in town:

The Indiana Memorial Union, the world's largest student union, offers a place to study, relax, meet friends, grab a bite to eat, and enjoy various activities. The IMU offers a variety of services and amenities that include bowling, billiards, video games, a post office, hair salon, and bookstore. An added attraction is the impressive art collection that is displayed throughout the building.

The Kirkwood Observatory, built in 1900, is named for Daniel Kirkwood, a noted mathematician and astronomer. Its original telescope is a 12-inch refractor that is capable of magnifying 600 times. The observatory is open to the public during the warm summer months.

Wonders in the Lilly Library vary in age and type from a Babylonian cuneiform tablet to the New Testament of the Gutenberg Bible, and from an extensive Abraham Lincoln collection to the personal papers of Orson Welles and Sylvia Plath. Housing more than 400,000 books, 130,000 pieces of sheet music, and approximately 7 million manuscripts, the Lilly is especially strong in American and British history and literature. See one of the first printed copies of the Declaration of Independence, a comic book collection, or film and television scripts that include the Star Trek series.

The Jacobs School of Music Musical Arts Center features an acoustically refined auditorium and stage with technical capabilities unrivaled by other schools. A sculpture by Alexander Calder, Peau Rouge Indiana, stands in the front of the building.

Experience art from all angles at the Indiana University Art Museum. From world-renowned architect I.M. Pei's soaring triangular atrium, to galleries filled with extraordinary works of art from all corners of the globe, the IU Art Museum will engage, stimulate, and satisfy your curiosity about the worlds of art.

The IU Auditorium was completed in 1941, and restored in 1999. The art deco-style auditorium seats 3,154 and is a major venue for year-round entertainment. It houses a large pipe organ and 16 panels of the Thomas Hart Benton murals that depict the social history of Indiana. The murals were first exhibited in the Indiana hall at Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition in 1933.

The Showalter Fountain is a two-tone sculpture that portrays the birth of Venus surrounded by six 400 pound dolphins. Located in front of the Auditorium, the fountain was designed and created by Robert Laurent. During his time as resident sculptor at the American Academy in Rome, he fashioned the six bronze sculptures and then had them sent to Bloomington by plane in 1958. Commissioned by University Chancellor Herman B Wells, Showalter Fountain was dedicated in 1961. Mr. Laurent was a faculty member in the IU Department of Fine Arts.

Connected to the IU Auditorium, the nearly 300-seat IU Cinema is a film museum, offering programs to students and the public showcasing motion pictures from local, national, and international archives. Visit www.indiana.edu/~iucinema/ for films, times, and tickets.