

GIVING TO THE INDIANA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MUSIC

A GIFT THAT KEEPS ON GIVING

BY LYNN LEWIS

In 1993, Jack and Dora Hamlin created a charitable remainder unitrust (CRUT) to support the Jack I. and Dora B. Hamlin Chair in Piano at the IU School of Music. To further support this chair, they recently completed a charitable gift annuity (CGA). Payments from both the CRUT and the CGA will go to Jack and Dora for the remainder of their lives. The CRUT also has a beneficiary provision that allows their daughter, Christie, to receive income for her life as well. The remainder of both these gift instruments will then provide generous support for the School of Music.

Jack Hamlin has always loved music. In high school he took lessons on the cornet and the piano, and when it came time for college, he intended to complete a music degree at Northwestern University with a music scholarship he had been offered. That changed when his teacher that summer suggested that Jack “forget music and go to business school.”

What a great piece of advice that was. Jack did, indeed, attend the IU School of Business, but he also played first chair cornet in the Marching Hundred and was ROTC band captain while completing his business degree. Jack and his wife Dora, whom he met while at IU, think that was the best of both worlds.

As a freshman Jack worked 10 hours a week for 25 cents an hour in the Office of the Dean of the School of Music typing, setting up for concerts, sorting music, and running errands. When he realized that he would not earn enough to pay his tuition, he left school and took a job with Inland Steel in East Chicago. He enrolled in evening courses at the IU extension there while playing in the symphony and in a dance band on the weekends. By the fall of 1941 Jack had enough money to come back to Bloomington as a full-time student and to complete his degree without working again. By increasing his academic load, he was able to graduate with his class.

When Jack graduated in 1943, his entire class at the School of Business left together to serve in World War II. Since they had training in business, the whole group was assigned to the Quartermaster Corps. Jack stayed in the military, eventually serving in both Korea and Vietnam, retiring as a colonel in 1969. He completed an MBA at The Ohio State University while in the service. Following military retirement Jack spent several years as the vice president for personnel for Peoples Drug Stores. All the while, Jack enjoyed the piano and his music.

Throughout their married life, Dora has been heavily involved with the art of handmade American quilts. She is a well-known quilt appraiser and has arranged for the purchase of quilts by the White House, the State Department, and many well-known individual collectors. She is presently the quilt buyer for Liberty of London and has presented quilts at decorator show houses for both the National Symphony Orchestra and the Baltimore Symphony.

After settling in Washington, D.C., Jack and Dora invested in real estate while their daughter, Christie, completed a bachelor’s degree in biological sciences at IU Bloomington and a degree in dentistry at the Indianapolis campus. When Jack and Dora decided it was time to make a gift to IU, it was Christie who suggested that Jack’s love of music made the School of Music the natural choice.

Christie met her husband, Tom Hubbard, while they were residents—Tom in medicine and Christie in dentistry. Tom and Christie now reside in Norfolk, Virginia, where Christie has a successful practice in pediatric dentistry and is active in the Virginia Dental Association. Tom practices medicine and, with a law degree as well, writes and teaches in the area of medical law. Jack and Dora have recently moved to Norfolk to be near their daughter and son-in-law.

Acclaimed pianist André Watts now holds the Hamlin Chair. Jack and Dora look forward to visiting Bloomington to meet him. It is through the support of people like the Hamlins that the School of Music can bring the finest teachers in the world to Bloomington. We are blessed by their support.
