

VIRTUAL VIRTUOSITY

Introducing the New School of Music Web Site

The School of Music Web site has come of age with a spectacular new design and updated content. Designed and restructured by the Indiana University Office of Communications and Marketing and a team of individuals in the School of Music, the site now includes a cutting-edge audio player, a comprehensive events database, a Marketplace where CDs and other goodies can be purchased, virtual tours, and much more. See for yourself at music.indiana.edu.

As with any Web site this complex, the project is a work in progress, and some areas have yet to be fully updated. We welcome any feedback you would like to offer. If you have any suggestions, please contact the School of Music Office of Marketing and Publicity via e-mail at musicpub@indiana.edu.