Dear AGO members!

Hi Everyone!

The holiday season is one of my favorite times of the year with clear, crisp days and wonderful advent and Christmas music. I hope everything went well with all your preparations for your Christmas services.

It has been a busy Fall semester for the Bloomington Chapter of the AGO. Events have included a lively workshop on the Children's Choir given by Dr. Mary Goetze and the Fridays at Noon Recital Series on December 1st given by Helen Suh, Chris Schroeder and Benjamin Straley-thanks go to all the performers. Finally we celebrated the end of the semester with a fun bowling night at the Union! I hope everyone's fingers are still working!

The AGO has exciting events planned for the spring, starting with a joint event with the Indy Chapter. Tom Trenney will be giving a master class on service playing and improvisation on Saturday, January 13th, 10:00am at St. Thomas Lutheran Church, Bloomington. We still need participants for the class, so if you are interested in playing please contact me. There is also a sign-up sheet on the 3rd floor of the Music Annex. Other spring events include the Anglican Choral fest in March and an organ crawl over spring break.

The IU Organ Department and Bloomington AGO said goodbye to one of its members over the holidays: Scott Esholz has left to pursue a new and exciting adventure and we wish him all the best!

Lastly, I hope you all had a blessed Christmas and may you have a blessed New Year!

Andy Chislett
