A Word from the Dean

Dear AGO Members,

I hope everyone is surviving the freezing and snowy winter we are finally having!

The Bloomington AGO has had some wonderful events during the past month and looks forward to some great events coming up.

The Indianapolis and Bloomington Chapters of the Ago hosted Tom Trenney over the weekend of January 12th. Tom performed a great recital at First Presbyterian Church, Indy, on the Friday and gave a great master class on Improvisation and Service Playing to IU students on the Saturday. Tom is a great performer and an inspiring teacher and I know that everyone who attended these events were both entertained and inspired! The Bloomington Chapter also hosted its Friday Noontime Recital Series on February 2nd at First United Methodist Church in Bloomington. Thank you to the performers, Hyung- Ja Choi, Helen Suh and David Lamb.

The next Friday Noontime recital will take place on March 2nd at Trinity Episcopal, Bloomington. This recital will also be part of Trinity's Lenten Recital Series and will begin at 12:15pm instead of 12:00pm. Please contact either myself or David Sinden at dsinden@gmail.com if you are interested in playing.

The next major event the Ago is hosting will be the Anglican Choral Fest the weekend of March 3rd and 4th. (Please refer to the Events Calendar in this newsletter for locations and times). This concert promises to be an amazing event with students assembled from the Organ, Choral and Voice Departments of IU. Great Anglican favorites by Howells, Stanford and Parry will be on the program.

The IU Organ Department and Bloomington AGO are saying goodbye to two of its members this month: Margaret Walsh and Stephanie Stevens are leaving to pursue jobs as full-time church musicians. We wish them both the very best!

I hope everyone is having a great semester!

Best wishes,

Andrew Chislett
